Holidays In Space Media Event December 13, 2019 60s Retro Holiday Bash at Kennedy Space Center Visitor Complex

WHAT: Be among the first to experience the 60s retro holiday bash at Kennedy Space Center Visitor Complex. Holidays in Space will begin December 13 and run through December 31 – transporting guests back in time with events, images and music to create the groovy vibe for which the 60s is known. Guests will enter the futuristic wonderland through an illuminated rocket archway. Period music and décor, as well as 10,000 sparkling lights, will set the tone for a party that promises to be far out. Interactive photo opportunities, space trivia and fun surprises help create a spacy, wintry wonderland.

Also new this year, a multimedia short film event experience will take guests on a thrilling journey across NASA’s historic space missions from the 1960s and into the future.
